Confessions of a High School Math Teacher

by Theodore Ford
Mathematics Teacher, Dutch Fork High School

Teaching is one of the most selfless careers one can choose today. You not only have to love the subject, but love the sharing of the subject, love the idea of learning the subject. Nothing brings more joy to a teacher than having a frustrated student finally grasp the material; not only grasp it, but enjoy it. Teaching is a calling, it's my calling. I've been told by others that I could've been a Biomedical Engineer, an Actuary, etc. To which I say to them, it's not about the income, it's about the outcome
