

This quantity measures how much the value of a function can change with a small change in its argument.