There is no set whose cardinality is strictly between that of the integers and the real numbers.

