This branch of mathematics studies counting problems.