

This branch of mathematics studies the evolution of geometric systems over time.