

This branch of mathematics studies sets equipped with a binary operation that is associative, has identity, and has inverses.